Echoes of the Carnival.

The Santa Clara County Carnival of Roses which was undoubtedly one of the greatest flower shows ever held in the state came to an end on Saturday evening last. The crowd of people in San Jose during the week was far ahead of any gathering ever before brought together in the Garden City and the streets on Saturday night were packed as never before. The success of the Carnival was due largely to the interest taken in it by the small towns and school districts of the the county. The most beautiful booths in the great pavilion were arranged by the smaller towns, all the prizes being awarded to them, Santa Clara receiving the first prize, Mountain View second, Berryessa third.

The many complimentary remarks heard for the Campbell display would indicate that our town gave a most creditable display, to say the least, and the committee in charge of the same deserve the thanks of the community for their faithfulness to our interests. The extent of the labor involved in giving the displays can only be appreciated by those who have had a similar experience but any observer who happened around when the busy workers were building and decorating the float at the drier or who made the booth at the pavilion a visit during the two or three days previous to the opening of the Carnival could not fail to become thoroughly convinced that such a display means work and a whole lot of it. The committee which planned and so well carried out the Campbell representation was composed of the following: E. N. Parr, C. N. Cooper, J. C. Ainsley Jas. Kennedy, D. H. Coates, G. C. Rodell, F. M. Righter, Mesdames E. H. Black, S. A. Foote, F. M. Righter, W. W. Turney, R. K. Thomas, W. H. Moore and C. C. Call.

D. H. Coates and G. C. Rodell as architects and buildres of the camel though having one of the most difficult designs to produce were successful beyond the most sanguine expectation. "A wonderfully correct model" is the expression from all who have seen it. If the work put upon the construction of the camel had been done by professionals it could not have been more satisfactory and the expense would have made the undertaking altogether impracticable. As it was the work was all donated for the good of the cause. O. N. Bagwill assisted the committee in fixing up the wagon and in the work in connection.

The splendid trappings of the camel, the appropriate costumes of the queen and pages and the artistic arranging of decorations on the "Camel" float were the result of plans made and carried out under the direction of Mrs. Turney. The task of placing the thousands of white roses so as to completely cover the life size "ship-of-the-desert," and still preserve its symmetry, was no small task in itself. Mrs. Turney was ably assisted by Mrs. R. K. Thomas and Mrs Moore.

The ladies in charge of the booth decorations, Mesdames Foote, Call, Black, and Righter displayed tireless energy in fitting up and decorating the booth and were highly complimented on their success in keeping every thing fresh and beautiful through the full three days of the Carnival. The ladies were well seconded by Messrs. E. N. Parr. and J. C. Ainsley.

Though the responsibility and burden of the work was borne by the above committee a number of others devoted considerable time and labor to the undertaking. Among them we note: Mrs. Waddell, Miss Cora Dean, Mrs. Whitney, Messrs. A. Waddell, Tom Lovelady, Tom Gardner, Chas. White, Jas. Wells, and Tom Hester assisted the booth committee providing decorations or assisting in their arrangement. Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Sutter furnished beautiful flower pieces. Mrs. Angwin, Mrs. Tibbetts, Misses Fanny Janes, Adra Eaton, Ethel Swope and Mr. Royal Turney assisted with float decorations.

In addition to the persons mentioned above those who assisted the Campbell representation in the parade also deserve mention. S. R. Wade and James Kennedy each presented a fine appearance as marshals, the former riding a white "Arabian" charger and the latter a a handsome bay. The Turks represented by Royal Turney, Henry Angwin, James Wells, Dudley Moulton, Charles Cooper, Henry Young and Warren McKenzie were important adjuncts to the float equipment and a more lovely queen was not to be seen in the whole procession than "Tiny" Swope, our queen "from the Orient."

One other feature which seems to have failed to receive credit for having contributed to the procession is the Campbell Y. M. C. A. Band, though many disinterested parties speak well of the music furnished by this organization. The band was made up on this occasion of the following: John Clink, J. G. Martin, Earl Wakeman, Thomas Springer, James Summers, A. Waddell, Charles Willett, Herbert Shearer, Charles Townsend, W. H. Williams, Marshall Ross, Jas. Kelly and Mr. Foss. The band rode in a handsomely decorated carryall drawn by S. G. Rodeck's fine sorrels.

A Noted Speaker.

John G. Woolley, the noted good citizenship orator will speak in San Jose, in the First M. E. Church on the 20th inst. Mr. Woolley is one of the best known speakers on the platform today, and on his particular line he has no equal. He is forcible, witty and chaste in his style, and withal humorous and earnest. He is now speaking in Southern California where he has crowded houses every night. This will probably be the only opportunity to hear this noted speaker, as he leaves in the morning for the east to address a big mass meeting in Cleveland; Ohio.

The Camel Came Back.

The camel returned from the Carnival pavilion on Monday and was given quarters at the drier where it can, no doubt, be fed, watered and provided with all of "the comforts of life" at small expense. The question of securing a permanent place for the faithful animal has not, we believe, been fully decided but a post of honor should certainly be accorded it in token of its splendid behavior at the great flower show.

Strawberry Festival.

The Campbell Rose Carnival committee will give an entertainment and strawberry festival at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on to-night, to clear up the expenses incurred in providing the float and booth decorations. Let everybody come out and give the committee a rousing recognition of their services. A fine program has been arranged and there will be strawberries in abundance. Admission only 10cts. Strawberries and cake, 15cts.

Annual Stockholder's Meeting.

The Annual Meeting of the Campbell Fruit Growers Union was held at Y. M. C. A. Hall on last Wednesday and was most harmonious throughout. The old officers were all re-elected there being, however, one slight change, W. W. Turney taking the place of Frank Waldo as vice president and Mr. Waldo Mr. Turney's place on the Board of Directors. The Union enjoyed a banquet at the noon hour at the Railway House and Campbell Restaurant.

THE VISITOR AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

That the VISITOR has great value as an advertising medium will not be questioned by those who know the class of people among whom it circulates. The citizens of Campbell and the country tributary thereto are very widely known as the most prosperous and enterprising people of the banner county of the State. They are a thrifty people, not given to extravagance, but as a rule able to buy and pay for what they need. The merchants who secure their trade get their best customers. The VISITOR, being the only local paper, is by far the best means of reaching and securing their trade and nowhere will your advertising bring you better returns for the money invested. NON-PARTIZAN VIEWS.

[By E. Janes.]

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

President Cleveland has just announced the most illustrious action of his whole career. He has extended the operation of Civil Service Reform over several additional departments of the Federal service, so that hereafter appointments and promotions of employees can only be made through competitive examinations.

The number of places affected by this extension of the rules is about 30,000, and the entire number of positions under the examination system is now about 85,000.

Thus the spoils-system is at length in great measure removed from our national politics. Our government will no longer present, every few years, the amazing and absurd spectacle to a gibing world, of thousands of experienced and skilful clerks and workmen turned out to make room for inexperienced and unskilful ones.

Especially gratifying is the fact that the examination system now includes the Consular Service, which has long been a byword for inefficiency and incompetency.

Mr. Cleveland's partisan opponents will, no doubt, scornfully ask,—Why did he not give us this great boon during the first year of his first term, nearly eleven years ago, instead of delaying it until the last year of his last term? Why does he issue this decree just before a presidential election in which the other political party seems likely to win? Is he not seeking to deprive the Republicans of the customary fruits of victory? These are hard questions! But we are quite willing to waive them all and welcome gladly, without scorn or questioning, this great advance in civilization, giving all honor to the man who thus expresses and enforces the nation's will.

A reform of our civil service, similar to that which has long been in operation in England, has been loudly demanded by public opinion in this country for nearly a generation. For a long time the politicians succeeded in defeating all measures proposed in Congress for this purpose. At last, however, the popular demand became so urgent that, in 1883, a bill presented by Mr. Pendleton, a Democrat, was passed in Congress by votes of both parties and signed by President Arthur.

This bill permitted the president to appoint a commission for devising rules and arranging examinations for the civil service of the United States, and allowed him to use his discretion as to the extent of the application of the system. It was at first applied to about 14,000 places, and has since been extended by successive presidents at various times, but chiefly by Mr. Cleveland during his two terms of office, until it now affects nearly all classes of government employees, excepting post-offices of the fourth class, of which there are at present about 66,000.

Probably no act of Mr. Cleveland's administration will be judged by history to be equal in importance to this one, and surely none has given such universal satisfaction.

And while the evils of place-hunting and the corruptions of politics are much diminished by civil service reform, and the efficiency of the public service vastly increased, it may well be that, after all, it is no disadvantage to the party in power. Certainly, in recent years, the appointing power seems to have been a fatal possession. When one man is appointed to a position five or ten others are always disappointed, and the clamor they raise more than makes up for the partisan advantage of the spoils of office.

In 1884 the Republicans, with nearly all the offices in their hands were defeated, in 1888 the Democrats had the same experience, and in 1892 the Republicans again suffered a like defeat. If this is not the finger of destiny pointing out the true path, all signs would seem to have failed.

It would be a truly remarkable and edifying spectacle if the politicians should find out that the spoils system is no advantage to the party in power, and that the best means for securing partisan success is honest and efficient performance of the public business.

If this be a visionary hope, let us at least applaud and encourage every step taken in the right direction, and rejoice, above all, that public opinion in this country demands reform so strongly that even partisan politicians sometimes here and obey.

Wedding Bells.

There was a very quite wedding in our midst Tuesday morning of this week the contracting parties being Chas. W. Cooper and Miss Mary C. Fore. The nuptials were celebrated at the home of the bride's parents. Promptly at 8 o'clock the young couple stepped out under a floral bell constructed of pure white roses, and were met by Rev. Mr. Windsor, who joined them in marriage by a most beautiful wedding ceremony, after which those present adjourned to the dining room where a sumptuous breakfast was spread. Immediately after breakfast, the bride and groom started for Capitola where they expect to spend a week at that popular coast resort, and then return to make their home among us. There were none present at the ceremony except relatives, and two special young lady friends of the bride.

Now that the Carnival is over people are getting down to business again.

Miss Pearl Bohnett spent a few days on the summit last week.

Mrs. Caldwell was on the sick list last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Conklin left last Tuesday for the East.

Now that the rains are over and the weather warm it will make things grow.

The Carnival was a grand success. There were so many pretty booths that it was a hard matter to decide which display was the finest.

The literary society has been taking a vacation for the past two weeks. It is expected that a meeting will be held to-night, however, with a good program.

Camping Season Opens.

A number of Campbell citizens have ventured to the mountains and to the coast during the past week and indications are favorable for considerable activity in the outing business during the next month.

On last Saturday the following persons loaded conveyances with camping conveniences and started out for the seaside: E. E. White and wife, J. C. Ainsley and wife, Miss May Pinnell, W. H. Swope, Misses Alda and Ethel Swope. All but Mr. and Mrs. Ainsley went direct to Capitola. The latter will spend part of their time in the mountains expecting to continue their trip to Capitola after clearing all the streams on their route of their finny tribe. Chas. Cooper and wife joined the party at Capitola the first of the week.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The members of the W. C. T. U. of Campbell cordially invite a perusal of this column the matter for which is furnished by members of the society.

Should Women Vote ?

The voters of the State of California will have to express their opinions upon this question next Fall, as the amendment of the State Constitution which will accord them this privilege is to be submitted to the people for adoption or rejection. The various arguments for and against this proposition are tolerably well known to all intelligent men; yet, better than any argument to guide men to the arrival of a sound position and clear understanding as to the wisdom of woman suffrage, is the experience of acute observers of the actual operations and results of voting by women.

In Colorado the women have had full suffrage for two years, and Governor McIntyre says: "Woman suffrage is a decided success in every respect. The women have voted in as large a proportion as the men. The chief benefit has been in forcing the nomination of the best men available for the offices. It is the estimate of women upon the candidates that the 'bosses' have most to fear." The leading newspapers of Colorado speak in the highest terms of the enfranchisement of women. All political parties extend a cordial recognition. The large number of women who voted has been a great surprise.

In Wyoming the Legislature passed resolutions cordially indorsing woman suffrage, after witnessing its workings for four years. In Utah, likewise, the experiment has also proved successful, and has received indorsement from prominent politicians and from the press. It is fortunate for the women of California that their cause has received such a prestige as that given it by successful working in other States, and by making an active campaign, it is not improbable that they may secure the adoption of Constitutional Amendment No. 11.—S. J. Mercury.

Obituary.

DIED—At San Francisco, May 10, 1896, of paralysis, William F. Marston, aged 48 years, 10 months.

Mr. Marston was born in Canada July 10, 1848. His parents moved to Michigan in 1849. In 1864 he enlisted as a private in the 3rd Michigan Infantry, being then but sixteen years of age, and served to the close of the war. During his term of service he received injuries from which he never recovered.

About four years ago he came to California and has since that time resided with the family of his brother-in-law, D. J. Soper, on Leigh avenue, about two miles east of Campbell and about four miles south west of San Jose. Some seven weeks before his death he had a stroke of paralysis and went to San Francisco for treatment. From all appearances he was improving but on May the 10th he had another stroke from which he died. The remains were brought to San Jose by W. L. Woodrow and the funeral services held at the Baptist Tabernacle on Wednesday at 10 A. M. under the auspices of the G. A. R. of which he was a member, having transferred from the Department of Oregon to the Phil Sheridan Post No. 7, Department of California and Nevada about two years ago. The interment took place at Oak Hill Cemetery in the Grand Army plot.

His sudden death was a severe shock to all who knew him and especially to his sisters Mrs. D. J. Soper and Mrs. A. C. McBride who reside near Campbell. He also leaves a brother residing in Michigan In his life he was always cheerful and kind and will long be remembered by his many friends and acquaintances.

To Orchardists.

FELLOW FRUIT GROWERS: Having devoted a large share of my time for the past four years to the study of the requirements of a standard fruit ladder I am sure that, on trial of those I am now putting up, you will indorse the opinion of my numerous costomers that the LATEST IMPROVED BLAINE LADDER is emphatically "THE BEST IN USE."

I am well aware that, each year, new styles of ladders are put upon the market, and I am also aware that most of them are found wanting in some essential qualities and hence soon run their race. I am pursuaded that this results from the fact that the manufacturers are either mechanics who are not orchardists or orchardists who are not mechanics; their product lacking, in the former case in adaptation, and in the latter case in mechanical construction. Having had experience both on the ranch and in the shop. I have greatly the advantage of such manufacturers. But in no respect has my four years experience helped me more than in judging of the quality of lumber, on sight. In this respect, alone, one of my ladders nowput up is worth two of those put up at first. Having arrangements by which I secure the choicest first clear lumber from the best cargoes brought to San Jose, I am sure no other ladder maker is competing with me in this regard. With all the improvements made I am now selling at prices in accord with the stringency of money matters. Please see advertisement in this issue, and give the LATEST IMPROVED BLAINE LADDER a trial.

Respectfully,

J. BLAINE.

Dears Sirs:—Having given my wheel a good trial, am ready to say I am exceedingly well pleased and thank you very kindly for the favor and privilege you have given me. I showed the wheel to one of our prominent bicycle agents, who did his best to sell me a wheel, and he said after taking a short ride on it that it was a fine wheel; and I know if the material is as good as the finish, I will never regret my bargain.

Yours truly
